

Lame Kalamazoo Girl Found Dead In Woods; Brutal Attack Victim

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — An autopsy showed today that little Jeannie Singleton had been raped, beaten and apparently choked to death by a sex deviate.

The bruised body of the 8-year-old school girl was found late Wednesday in a lonely pine woods 15 miles north of Kalamazoo.

Jeannie, left lame by an attack of rheumatic fever four years ago, was last seen 10 days ago resting on a curb a half block from her home here. She was returning from school. Relatives said Jeannie had a sunny disposition and "a smile for everybody."

Third In Four Months

She was the third little girl to die at the hands of a brutal killer in Michigan in the past four months.

A conference of law enforcement officers was called here today to intensify the search for Jeannie's killer.

Five farm children, playing in an isolated area near the village of Doster, stumbled onto Jeannie's body.

The body bore bruises about the hips and arms. The dress was pulled above the waist. Jeannie still had on shoes and stockings.

Lawsuit Of C&H Opens In Court At Marquette

MARQUETTE (AP) — A 3½ million dollar damage suit brought by Calumet & Hecla, Inc., against the CIO United Steel Workers has opened in Federal Court here.

Leon Jones of Detroit, counsel for the company, said in an opening statement Wednesday that damages to the company from a strike called in several Upper Peninsula mines now appear considerably less than at the time when the suit was filed.

The strike began May 2 and the suit was filed May 6.

One of three witnesses questioned by Jones was Sheriff Theodore Rogers of Keweenaw County. He testified the strike began as a peaceful one.

Others who testified were Emil Primeau, recording secretary of union Local 4312, and Gene Saari, international representative for the union.

Ford Offers Workers 'Job Security' Plan

Vassar, Mich. Trying To Keep Main Industry

VASSAR (AP) — Citizens of this Tuscola County community of 2,700 with union men and industrialists today in a determined effort to save the town's main industry.

The AFL United Auto Workers Wednesday accepted a proposal by the Eaton Manufacturing Co. to hold a public meeting on problems confronting the company's foundry division here.

The plant, which employs 535 persons—a good share of Vassar's population — is scheduled to close June 30. It is the town's chief source of income and the heart of its industrial life.

The company announced the closing May 24. It said the average wage of $267 in the Vassar plant was 62 cents above the area average and 70 cents above the industry average. The high wages, it said, made it unable to compete with rival firms.

Frank H. Mott, administrative vice president of Eaton, said the meeting will not prevent the plant from closing down. But he said the company would be willing to consider reopening it "if all of the conditions which led to the decision to close could be corrected."

Wage Guarantee Calls For Fund Of 55 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News said today the Ford Motor Co. has offered the strike-threatening CIO United Auto Workers a "job security" plan accepting the principle of the union's guaranteed annual wage demand.

The newspaper in a story by Boyd Simmons said it had learned this from "a high union official."

The News said the Ford offer entails a 55 million dollar fund "unprecedented in industry."

"It appears to represent some of the thinking of both Ford's previous 'partnership in prosperity' offer and the union's guaranteed annual wage plan," the News said.

Union Studies Offer

"It accepts the principle of providing for a Ford employee while he is out of work—the principle on which UAW President Walter Reuther insists."

Ford made the union a new offer Tuesday. UAW President Walter Reuther said a new offer, requiring more union consideration, had been made by Ford on Tuesday, causing the union to postpone a threatened strike from Wednesday midnight to next Monday.

Without describing the new offer Reuther has said that it still left Ford and the union "far apart" toward reaching a contract agreement. It was felt, however, that the UAW never would have granted the four-day contract extension unless it had high hopes that a contract agreement could be reached before the new Monday deadline.

The News said Ford and the UAW apparently were talking in terms of a three-year contract. The company has been seeking another five-year agreement to get the measure of auto labor peace it has enjoyed under the expiring five-year pact. Reuther has said the union wants an agreement no longer than one or two years.

Weekly Checks Provided

The News said Ford and the UAW apparently were talking in terms of a three-year contract. The company has been seeking another five-year agreement to get the measure of auto labor peace it has enjoyed under the expiring five-year pact. Reuther has said the union wants an agreement no longer than one or two years.

"When he had exhausted these state benefits, he would begin drawing from the company's job security fund. The size of the weekly checks from this fund were not disclosed by the union official."

The crucial auto industry talks were nearing the showdown stage and were expected to increase in intensity at both Ford and General Motors this weekend. There were a few scattered "wildcat" strikes at some Ford assembly plants and company reports of "sabotage" on new cars rolling off the assembly line.

State Above Average

Meanwhile GM and Ford announced new car production records for the first five months of the year as the industry's prosperity reached a new peak.

State unemployment compensation payments vary widely between states. In Michigan the average state payment to an unemployed worker is $10.00 a week.

Polio Vaccine Available For 200,000 More

WASHINGTON (AP) — First shots of Salk polio vaccine were available today for 200,000 more school children and the Public Health Service said new supplies "will become progressively available."

The service announced Wednesday night the clearance of 200,000 cubic centimeters of unused vaccine previously distributed by Pitman-Moore Co., Zionsville, Ind., and Wyeth, Inc., Marietta, Pa. that amount, once cleared, had been held back from use since May 7 when inoculations were halted for a safety check.

The release was the first since May 15, when supplies previously distributed by Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis were cleared a second time. Similar action had been taken on May 13 on vaccine made by Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

"From this point forward," the Health Service announcement said, "vaccine supplies will become progressively available under the provisions of the revised standards for vaccine production and testing announced last Friday."

No date was given.

The service did not say where the released supplies were located.

Lawmakers Set To Quit Friday

LANSING (AP) — Minor progress was reported today in settling an inter-chamber dispute over new state revenues—and the Legislature is supposed to adjourn Friday.

House-Senate conferees on a business receipts tax revision bill went into their second session this morning after reporting "progress" Wednesday.

But chairmen of both House and Senate taxation committees conceded that so far they had only tried to agree on what present revenues will be for next year and had not delved into the effect of the measure they dispute.

The budget is about 27 million dollars in the red for next year.

The Senate wants to raise revenues about 23 million dollars by increasing the business levy from four to six mills. The House wants to raise about 30 million dollars by boosting the levy to seven mills.

Lottery At Yale Violates Law; Judge Wins Auto

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A Yale alumni club has been ordered arrested on a charge that it operated a lottery on a fund-raising outing. A retired state Supreme Court justice won a new car in a drawing.

State's Atty. Albert S. Bill, a Yale man himself, charged Wednesday night that the Yale Club of Hartford drawing was illegal because of a state lottery law strongly upheld in 1938 by the Supreme Court justice who won the car.

The outing was held in Simsbury May 18 to raise money for a Yale scholarship fund. Retired Justice William M. Maltbie bought a ticket to the outing but did not attend. He said he did not know there would be a drawing. He plans to sell the car and give the money to the Yale Scholarship Fund, he said.

Violation of the lottery law is a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum fine of $100 or a year in jail or both.

Two Babies Rescued As Car Rolls In River

SCHUYLERVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — Wayne Weidman, a mill worker, left his two children in the car Wednesday when he went into a lumber office to pay a bill.

The car rolled 10 feet down a slight incline, dropped 12 feet into the old Champlain Canal and started to settle in six feet of water.

Two men passing by, Jeri Mayer and Rollie Haley, jumped after it and opened doors on either side. One grabbed Wayne Jr., 3, and the other rescued Christine, 18 months. Neither child was hurt.

Woman Chewed Up By Her Dogs

TOMS RIVER, N. J. (AP) — A 64-year-old woman was found dead on the beach near her summer cottage Wednesday, the mangled victim of her two Doberman Pinscher dogs.

State police said the two animals apparently turned on Mrs. Winifred W. L. Bacon and killed her. The dogs, one a male and the other a female, were racing madly about her body.

Mrs. Bacon's left arm and shoulder were ripped, and authorities said the male dog's mouth and face was covered with blood. After an autopsy, Coroner Anderson King listed the cause of death as "a massive hemorrhage from dog bites."

The reason for the attack on Mrs. Bacon, who was a resident of Pemberton, remained a mystery to Ocean County detectives. She had owned one of the dogs for four years and the other for two. She was the wife of Brook B. Bacon, a Philadelphia businessman.

Building Collapse Kills 3 In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — At least three persons were killed and eight injured when a downtown building collapsed on top of another structure Wednesday night. Rescue workers dug through the rubble today searching for others who might have been trapped in the wreckage.

Early estimates said as many as 15 might have been trapped in a music store and a combination cafe and beer tavern which were smashed by the falling building. The two businesses were in a story-and-a-half building. The edifice that first fell was a vacant, three-story structure being razed.

Killed were Luther Gonzales, 32, Alvis B. Simmons, 40, and William E. Kirby, 42, all of Dallas.

One of the injured was a woman, Miss Mary Henjy, 36, of Dallas.

Witnesses said that when the building fell at 6:30 p.m. CST, it sounded like a "bomb" or "explosion." It snapped trolley wires and dumped rubble four feet deep in the street. Bricks hit store fronts across the street.

In the cafe, a stuffed deer head poked up from the rubble, along with counter stools and splintered glass. Musical instruments were

Marijuana Burned In Chicago Suburb

CHICAGO (AP) — Cook county sheriff's police used flame throwers Wednesday to destroy a 10-acre patch of nearly ripe marijuana in suburban Lemont township.

Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman said the marijuana was not growing wild, but had been cultivated. He said the growth, if harvested and made into cigarettes, might have been sold to addicts for as much as 1½ million dollars.

Lohman said the patch had been under surveillance for nearly three weeks by deputies seeking to trap the grower.

Taylor Praises School Aid Laws

LANSING (AP) — The educational program approved by the Michigan Legislature is the best in years, Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, said today.

Dr. Taylor called a press conference to hail the program and compliment the lawmakers he held largely responsible. These were Sens. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) and Don Vander Werp (R-Fremont) and Reps. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), Allison Greene (R-Kingston) and John J. McCune (R-East Lansing).

Dr. Taylor said the Legislature accomplishes this year for public schools included:

Increased state school aid 22 million dollars—including 10 million more for school boards to raise teacher salaries $200 each.

Provided $750,000 from the general fund for the first time to aid community and junior colleges.

Passed legislation enabling adjoining counties to go together to operate their own junior college.

Voted to let the teacher pension system be combined with federal social security to increase pensions and boosted appropriations for teacher pensions from $6,000,000 to $14,500,000.

Advise of Dr. Taylor's statement, Gov. Williams called it a "net political cover-up."

Conceding it is an improvement over previous years, Williams said it ignores a minimum salary for teachers.

Chain Store Tax Repeal Attacked

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams' caustic criticism of a bill repealing the chain store tax drew hot rebuttal from Republicans today.

Williams, indicating plainly he will veto repeal of the 22-year-old law, said that the Legislature was not justified in cutting off a tax producing nearly half a million dollars a year when it had refused to appropriate all he asked for a number of purposes. He cited examples.

To this Sens. Frank N. Beadle of St. Clair, Creighton R. Coleman of Battle Creek and Edward Hutchinson of Fennville replied.

Williams had said the Legislature provided $500 instead of the $50,000 asked to prepare for the St. Lawrence Seaway. The Senators said Williams wanted to develop another commission "when two state agencies—the Economic Development Commission and The Waterways Commission — are equipped to do the job." They added the Legislature passed a bill giving port districts authority to get ready for the seaway.

Stevenson Eager To Run In 1956

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson is eager to run for President again and will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination if he is convinced the party wants him to run, a source in a position to know Stevenson's plans said Wednesday.

The former Illinois governor was described as "willing to give it all he has" and confident that the Democrats can win even if President Eisenhower should seek a second term.

Stevenson is not expected to make any announcement before November. Friends here say he believes it is too early to be talking about 1956 and that it would be better to wait for the party to indicate a preference than to have an individual push himself.

Witch Doctor Held In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police are holding a man they say claims to be a witch doctor.

Bunco squad officers said Florantino Morales, 54, has been treating ailing Los Angeles residents with an assortment of equipment including black candles, effigy dolls, black silk scarves and plaited hair switches.

He was arrested after an ailing housewife said he agreed to cure a pain in her chest for $300 with a treatment including a candle-light ritual dance. Morales was jailed Wednesday on a warrant charging him with practicing medicine without a license.

The woman, Mrs. Geronima Banuelos, 42, is in General Hospital. Her ailment has not yet been diagnosed.

Families Greet Freed Airmen In Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — Four American fliers, chipper and gay despite more than two years of Chinese Communist brain - washing attempts, rejoined their families today.

Nine of their closest relatives, collected from across the United States in an Air Force plane, were scheduled to land at Hickam Air Force Base today.

The four jet fighter pilots—all captured in the Korean War—planned to be at the airport.

The airmen — Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Capt. Harold E. Fischer, Lt. Roland W. Parks and Lt. Lyle W. Cameron—told of their prison experiences at a press conference Wednesday night a few hours after they arrived from Hong Kong.

Played Along With Reds

They talked freely but balked on two points—whether they signed a confession to win their freedom and whether their planes crashed in Chinese or Korean territory.

They said they "played along" with Red attempts to brain-wash them and pleaded guilty to Communist charges of "intruding China" and "provocative attack."

But, they insisted they remained unaffected by the Reds' attempts to sell them on life under communism.

Asked about confessions, Fischer said good humoredly: "I believe I'll wait till I see my lawyer about answering that question."

Of where they crashed, Heller said, "let's let that question ride for awhile."

Eleven Still Captives

Maj. Gen. Sory Smith, Pacific Air Force commander, struck a sober note. He told a small army of press, radio and television men: "We have four men here. There should be 15. Please keep that in mind."

Smith referred to 11 other American fliers still held captive by the Communists. The implication was that anything the four might say might be used against the 11.

The warning was clear. It may have been why the men talked little of their worst experiences and much of the lighter side.

The men themselves indicated there was still "40 or 44 American nationals still in China," possibly including some Navy personnel. They said they had heard of a Navy plane shot down.

In Washington, the State Department said it believes the Chinese Reds hold 63 Americans.

The House Post Office Committee today speedily approved a Senate bill to provide 500,000 postal workers an average 8 per cent pay raise.

A bill reported by Republican leaders to be acceptable to President Eisenhower, who vetoed a somewhat larger previous increase, passed the Senate 78-0 Wednesday.

The House Post Office Committee chairman said he would call the Senate bill up in the House next Tuesday under procedure requiring a two-thirds majority to pass. "There will be no opposition to it," he told newsmen.

Once the proposal pay question is out of the way, Congress will tackle another knotty pay problem by considering raises for over a million civil service workers.

Oil Rig Worker Burned In Blaze

GLADWIN (AP) — One man was reported severely burned in an oil fire that raged out of control near Skeels Wednesday night.

Gerald Murphy, 27, of Mt. Pleasant, an oil rig worker, was treated at the Gladwin Hospital for first and second degree burns. His condition was listed as good today.

The fire destroyed the derrick and drilling equipment at a new well that was brought in late Wednesday. Gas fed the flames.

Marvin Norton, district supervisor of the field administration division of the Conservation Department, said the derrick and equipment were valued at $200,000.

Norton said the gusher blew in with more than 3,000 pounds of gas pressure. The mixture was ignited by hot drilling equipment.

The Gordon Drilling Co. of Mt. Pleasant was drilling the well.

Nixon Sees Big 4 Chance To Nip War

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Nixon today said the Big Four conference could be the world's last chance "to avoid a catastrophic war."

He asserted the Russian representatives to the parley "will be on trial before the whole world—including their own people."

Nixon, featured speaker at the final session of the annual convention of Rotary International, devoted most of his prepared remarks to the forthcoming meeting between the heads of state of the United States, Russia, France and Britain.

He said the people on both sides of the Iron Curtain want peace, and leaders of the free nations will go to the conference with peace as their objective. He added: "The men in the Kremlin x will be on trial before the whole world—including their own people. "People everywhere will be asking: Have those who scuttled, obstructed and sabotaged previous conferences changed their ways? Have they renounced their previously declared policy to conquer the world?"

"Will they agree to a settlement which will recognize the right of individuals to be free, nations to be independent and all peoples to be free from aggression?"

The vice president said the conference may show "whether negotiated peace is possible or whether the danger of nuclear war is to hang over us for generations."

"This conference," he said, "could be the world's last chance to settle difference peacefully and avoid a catastrophic war."

Guardsmen Get New Equipment

Additional mobile equipment and tools have been received from the State Quartermaster at Lansing, and assigned to the local engineer unit, it is announced by Capt. Roy J. Johnson, Company C Commander.

Five more 2½ ton dump, 6 wheel drive trucks were received during the month of May. The total cost of these new trucks is approximately $45,000 dollars. They are of the latest military type, with power brakes, hydro-matic drives, and equipped with power winches. All trucks are completely equipped for blackout night driving operations and, with a few changes, are equipped for beach landings and river crossings. All units can be run with engines submerged.

This brings the Company's total of mobilized equipment to 19 vehicles.

Also received were 15 new chests of carpenter, demolition, and pioneer tools. These will largely be assigned to the unit's new third platoon, so it will be fully equipped to operate during coming field training.

Capt. Johnson also announced the following promotion within the unit: Sgt. John J. Robitaille, Escanaba, to sergeant first class, and assigned as third platoon sergeant.

At the present time some vacancies still exist in the engineers. Needed are young men to train as truck drivers, construction foremen, demolition men and pioneers, Capt. Johnson said. Opportunities now exist for high school graduates, veterans and guardsmen to attend regular army service schools, fill important military jobs within the company and attend coming outdoor drills. All interested men are asked to contact the local armory.

Los Angeles Will Not Tint Streets

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A proposal that Los Angeles paint its streets pastel colors such as pink and mauve was made to the City Council by Miss Elizabeth Black, retired general manager of the Municipal Arts Department.

She said this would beautify the city, cut down the glare from blacktop streets and thus reduce accidents.

The City Council Wednesday took a short look at the $50,000,000 expense involved and rejected the proposal.

Thieves Not Fooled

Thieves ripped open the safe anyway, police were told yesterday.

It contained $256.

Briefly Told

Laundry Bleach Stolen—Gus Andrews of Andrews' Cafe, 916 Ludington St., notified police that four cases of triple-strength laundry bleach have been stolen from a loading platform at the rear of the restaurant. If the thieves plan to use the bleach in their laundry they may be disappointed, for the police noted in their report that "this bleach is triple-strength and if used for washing clothes will rot them away."

Branch State Library For U.P.
Will Augment Local Libraries

Kayo Mullins, the cartoon character, was horrified when it was proposed that he be given a book as a birthday present. He had a book, he said. Some grown-ups are like Kayo, but most of them regard books as one of man's best aids to learning. Other visual activities compete with book reading for Americans' time, but books persist as the main source of instruction and as one of the chief means of entertainment, too,

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

When was your most embarrassing moment? The chances are about even, judging from letters I receive, that it came when the wrong word or wrong pronunciation slipped from your lips.

"Why is it," asks one lady correspondent, "that if I ever am foolish enough to try the phrase 'far from the madding crowd,' it invariably comes out 'far from the maddening crowd'? Perhaps the reason is that I hate crowds, having a strong streak of claustrophobia. I'm sure you can help me, if you'll tell me where the phrase came from and why it's maddening, not maddening."

You first heard the phrase, most likely, in a high-school English class, since it comes from Thomas Gray's ELEGY IN A COUNTRY CHURCHYARD:

"Far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife

Their sober wishes never learned to stray."

Gray was not referring to the effect of the crowd on the likes of you, dear lady, but to the fact that the crowd itself was mad, raging and wild. Thus he used "maddening" which is little more than an intensive form of "mad," rather than "maddening."

Misconceptions or mispronunciations learned in childhood do have an irritating way of cropping out again and again in later life. A recent letter from Dr. Cabell, speech consultant to the Columbia Broadcasting System, puts the matter neatly, "For experienced public speakers," Greet writes, "the most common cause of embarrassing errors is the persistence of youthful impressions based upon misleading spellings. When we are children we encounter in our reading words like 'apothecis,' 'respite' and 'epitome.' We are misled (this word 'misled' is another trap) and we mispronounce them to ourselves. Later we learn the correct pronunciation but the old mispronunciation, though buried, lingers on—sometimes to pop out to our surprise and chagrin."

Truth to tell, I've always had a special fondness for my brother's youthful pronunciation of 'misled.' To him, and I'm sure to thousands of others, it was a very special word having only one tense—the past tense—and was pronounced MY-Z'ld.

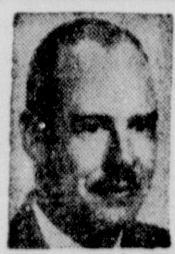

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

One of the stories that, judging by the number of time it's been submitted, must be among the most popular extant concerns the old man explaining the secret of 70 years of serene, fight-free married life.

"Driving home from our honeymoon," is the ancient's story, "my mare stumbled. 'That's once!' I noted. Then it stumbled again. I said grimly, 'That's twice!' When she stumbled a third time, I pulled out my gun and shot her dead.

"My new wife got mighty riled over that and bawled me out plenty. I just sat there quiet till she ran down. Then I said, 'That's once!'

"Son, I ain't had a bit of trouble with her since."

The Doctor Says . . .
Rare Muscle Disease
Seems to Be Increasing

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Like a number of other diseases which were formerly considered rather rare myasthenia gravis appears to be more frequent than was previously believed. First described in the 17th century it did not become fully recognized until 1878. Since then, at least until recently, there has been little sustained effort to learn about this disease.

Before discussing this further I should like to say a word of caution to one correspondent who says, "I have every symptom of myasthenia gravis. I can't walk without aid, have a hard time to swallow and my eyes are blurry. I can't talk, that is to keep up a conversation, because I get so nervous. My left hand quivers all the time."

The writer of this letter should not jump to the conclusion that the cause of the difficulties is myasthenia gravis since some of the symptoms do not fit. Actually, it is highly dangerous for any patient—even a doctor—to make a diagnosis on himself or herself.

At present it should be said that myasthenia gravis is a disease of unknown origin so far lacking any sure cure. It may attack at any age in either sex and is not confined to an economic level, nation or race. Although the symptoms vary, extreme fatigue is typical. Drooping of the eyelids, double vision, difficulty in walking, difficulty in holding up the head or arms, trouble in smiling, speaking or swallowing are among the most frequent symptoms.

Only the muscles which are moved voland nowhere else do they flourish as they do in America.

In the Upper Peninsula the book service to individuals are complemented by public book services by libraries operated by communities, by counties and by school systems. These libraries, in turn, may borrow from the state's greatest bank of books the Michigan State Library at Lansing. The State Library has an Upper Peninsula office in the Escanaba Junior High School building, but it has no branch repository of books in the Upper Peninsula and its books must be drawn from the headquarters library at Lansing. This poses a serious transportation problem, as books spend more time in transit than they do in U. P. use, because of the distances involved and the transportation available. It takes as much as 9 days for a book to come to the U. P. from Lansing, so that when it arrives its borrower has only three days to use it here.

To make State Library service in the Upper Peninsula more effective a committee of librarians and library trustees from all parts of the U. P. meeting in Escanaba in August, 1953, recommended the establishment of a U. P. branch of the State Library. The branch would consist of a collection of books to be used for direct mail service to the 93,000 people in the Upper Peninsula who have no local libraries nor even, in many instances, school libraries.

The branch would supplement the collections of existing U. P. libraries by loaning them materials which the local libraries did not feel that they should purchase, either because of the lack of money or limited use. In addition to serving the public libraries and areas with no library service, the branch would serve all school libraries and school systems which do not have libraries. To aid extension study the branch would carry course books and supplementary materials and it would also be a depository for historical materials and documents important to the Peninsula and would become a reference center for historical information.

The branch would not displace local libraries nor act as a substitute for the county and regional libraries being considered in the Peninsula. All services would be free of charge, with the branch paying postage one way and the individual or library borrower of its books paying the return postage. The branch would also be an in-service training center for librarians.

The State Library budgeted $25,000 in its current appropriation request to the Legislature to start the branch and several Upper Peninsula cities, Escanaba and Gladstone among them, are seeking the branch and have offered housing. The service is an important one for the Peninsula's growth and the apparent assurance of success brings occasion to commend both the Upper Peninsula librarians and trustees and the State Library for providing this new aid to learning.

Today In Europe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

LONDON — Allied solidarity, which is so essential to the United States and Great Britain in dealing with the delicate problems of the world, was never as strong as it is today in the all-important period of preparation for the four power conference between the heads of state.

This correspondent had an opportunity to lunch and then to talk alone for an hour with Prime Minister Eden at his country place over the week-end holiday, and the net impression is that the governments of the United States and Great Britain understand each other thoroughly "at the summit."

The prime minister doesn't give interviews, and what he says in a private chat cannot be quoted. But it isn't necessary now to reveal details or to describe plans for the future, as these will unfold in due time. What is vital is to know that the American viewpoint is understood and that there is no lack of information on the state of American opinion or on the views of the leaders in the United States concerning the possible direction that the four power conference might conceivably take.

The pitfalls of international conferences are known only too well, and especially the danger of any formula that resembles the Yalta experience, when agreements at the top level came to such a tragic result later on. Nor is there today any thought that public opinion in any country can be ignored as heads of state reach conclusions of their own. A healthier attitude toward the idea of a four power meeting is developing at the moment primarily because those participating will necessarily be looking over their own shoulders at the reactions back home, and this does not exclude the spokesman for Soviet Russia.

Misgivings may remain and skepticism may not be erased until deeds of good faith are consummated, but there is a significant fact which stands out above all others. This is that the heads of the governments of Britain, the United States and France will enter the conference with a wholehearted desire to make it succeed and to bring about as much agreement on existing issues as is possible.

There is indeed something even more hopeful. It is the decision to explore and search for solutions without a deadline that limits the duration of the inquiry itself. There will be no feeling that only three days or three weeks have been allotted for the effort of the foreign ministers to bring about a meeting of minds. For, if agreement doesn't come at once, there is a determination to try again at another conference and another and another. What it means is that the world will be witnessing perhaps the most intensive effort ever made between major governments to find a common ground for adjustment of existing differences.

Once it became known in Moscow that there is one hundred per cent sincerity behind the Allied approach and that many fundamental questions—such as the future independence of the states often referred to as "satellites"—cannot be laid aside, the way is opened to a progressive handling of the most delicate of issues. Unification of Germany, for example, presents a problem closely related to reduction of armaments generally. This cannot be postponed, however, till the millennium comes. There have to be free elections in Germany so that a truly independent government can emerge. Certainly it is better to bring into being a unified Germany now than to let a divided Germany remain as a source of dissension in Europe.

Once an independent and reunited Germany, resulting from free elections, is a reality, the way will be open for the ultimate restoration of independence to the other states of Europe. It is of course, very important for the Western Allies not to leave the eastern European countries with a feeling that they are being neglected. On the contrary, their status will inevitably be re-examined, which in itself is a source of hope.

Sir Anthony is well aware of the enormous responsibilities just entrusted him in the domestic as well as the international sense. The election was a wholehearted vote of confidence in the Conservative government which, while not presided over any longer by Sir Winston Churchill, nevertheless benefits by the constant personal contacts between the former prime minister and the present incumbent.

To an American observer, however, it is good news to discover that there is such an intimate understanding in the mind of Sir Anthony Eden of the cross-currents of American opinion. For here is a man with a long and practical experience in the dilemmas that personal diplomacy faces. Nowadays all the world is frightened by the destructive power of the hydrogen bomb. Let nobody assume that the heads of state today—and this includes Russia—are unaware of the universal demand that a way must be found to keep "war as a last resort" from ever happening.

One Important Crop That Never Fails

Charity's Headache Is Threat
Of Revolt By Public Who Give

CLEVELAND—(NEA)— It's a hard job giving away money.

In fact, people from 21 states spent half a week here going to school about it. They sought ways to make it less of a problem and more effective.

Industries, chambers of commerce, Better Business Bureaus and charity organizations were represented.

It's not that anyone opposes charity. That's one of the problems. Businessmen are generous but glib.

"They're afraid to ask the man with the tin cup any questions," is the way Randall M. Ruhlman, Cleveland Chamber of Commerce secretary and host to the meeting, puts it.

The conference agreed that donations are an important part of the American way and one of the best evidences of man's humanity to man.

Last year American generosity provided $5,400,000,000 in answer to appeals for others in trouble. That was 35 per cent more than was collected six years ago.

Of this, corporations gave $400,000,000. The conference here was an attempt to peer through the chaos of the tremendous expanse of charity appeals and find some rules that might make their job of picking and sorting simpler.

Here are some of the problems experienced by cities, large and small:

There is a multiplicity of appeals. Once crowded into one basket, the Community Chest, new campaigns sprout weekly. The conference particularly deplored the "nuclear fission" of emergency campaigns which follow regular campaigns.

Everyone is deathly afraid of shattering the confidence of the public in charity campaigns. This fear envelops the five million volunteer workers who collect as well as those who give.

"We are threatened with a grade-A revolt," says Ruhlman. "Philanthropy can become philanthropy."

The funds raised in 1954 were 66 million less than that of 1953. "The total has not kept up with the inflation of the dollar," F. Emerson Andrews of the Russell Sage Foundation told the meeting.

Another problem is the growth of the implied threat in obtaining contributions.

"It's not only scaring the daylights out of parents about their children becoming ill," said Andrews. "The factory worker is threatened with loss of his job status, a businessman may fear the loss of important customers and an executive may pay a heavy price for saving 'no.'"

Unordered merchandise sent through the mails, marathon radio and TV gags, fireman-police-man-postman-milkman "walks" and mothers' parades were targets for criticism.

Of all the problems, the hardest to cope with is the "three per cent racketeer," the suave talker who walks into a town, borrows a charity organization and raises money for it and himself through questionable methods.

"The blind beggar of past ages asking for alms—he's the one who started all this," said Ruhlman. "But he got 100 per cent of the gift. There was no three per cent or whatever can be grabbed by the men in the 'boiler room.'"

The boiler room, where professional "phonemen" set calling each name in the classified phone directory, was under fire throughout.

This problem is most complex because the charity itself may be a worthy one. The method is questionable.

Are you an E. M. or a T. D.? Daniel N. Casey, C. of C. secretary from Harrisburg, Pa., revealed that "tap lists" circulate from hand to hand among the professional fly-by-night promoters. They're valuable.

Each card has code initials in the corner. T. D. is "turned down." E. M. is "easy mark."

There are others including G. P. U. meaning "good prospect but send a messenger to pick up his money while he's hot" and S. T. M.—"He can be relied on to put his check in the mail after he promises to do so."

Also deplored were: Sponsor lists on letter heads—in one survey, half didn't know their names were used.

Christmas drives for orphans—"Charity racketeers love orphans. If they went to all the parties they're supposed to at Christmas they'd never have time to wash their grubby little faces."

Out of the conference came the realization that there is need for even more charity, though channels may be changing. Great strides are needed in mental health with half of our hospital beds filled with mental cases, 80 per cent of which might have been avoided with proper treatment. Alcoholism is another wide open field. Educational institutions, tendons in our nation's physique, need help badly.

Even though it is true that a millionaire cannot escape being a beneficiary of our present charities, the nation donates less than the amount spent for tobacco, the conference was told. The potential is tremendous. If industry alone donated the five per cent allowed in tax deductions, their gift would total two billions.

Will it get any easier to give away money wisely? The conclusion was that givers must be educated to see that their money goes to essential services, that the Community Chest must be protected at all costs and that racketeers can be frightened away from informed and vigilant communities.

Rome Acts To Save
Constantine Arch

WASHINGTON —Rome's 4th-century Arch of Constantine will wear scaffolding for months during efforts to halt disintegration which has unloosed chunks of stone and marble.

A famed landmark and Colosseum neighbor, the arch has shown an alarming tendency to crumble from effects of weather and motor traffic vibration. Vegetation thriving on its ancient walls has aided decay. Even so, the arch probably is the best preserved structure of the imperial period, the National Geographic Society says.

It was erected after Emperor Constantine defeated Maxentius at the Battle of the Milvian Bridge in A. D. 312. Of classic proportions suggesting grandeur and power, the arch bears eight monolithic, detached columns. Within it are fragments of other ancient monuments and sculptures depicting glorious episodes of the time.

Tribute to Constantine

Of Constantine, who gave Christians religious freedom in A. D. 313, the inscription says: "To Emperor Caesar Flavius Constantinus Maximus, the Pious, the Fortunate, Augustus, the Senate and people of Rome have dedicated in triumph this noble arch, because, by the inspiration of God and the greatness of his mind, he, by means of his legions and just arms, avenged the Republic, not only on the tyrant, but also at the same time on all his faction."

Triumphal arches honoring emperors and generals usually had an attic story for dedicatory inscriptions. Arches, faced with columns, had one or three openings. Bas-relief and statuary themes proclaimed the exploits of an individual Roman and his legions.

Ancient Rome bequeathed the world a number of stately arches, among them the triple Arch of Septimius Severus. Erected around A. D. 203, it was dedicated to the Emperor and his two sons, Caracalla and Geta, for their victories over the Parthians. The white marble arch has detached columns on pedestals and a staircase to the top. There ride statues of the Emperor and his sons in a four-horse chariot, flanked by soldiers.

In contrast, the Arch of Titus has a single opening. This classic structure was raised around A. D. 81 to commemorate the capture of Jerusalem.

Are de Triomphe In Paris

The ancient Arch of Tiberius in Orange, France, has been acclaimed as one of the finest outside Italy. Like the Arch of Septimius Severus and the modern Marble Arch in London, the elaborately decorated Orange masterpiece spans three openings.

Much of the classic Roman form was translated to the massive Arc de Triomphe in Paris. Begun in 1806 and finished 30 years later, the Arch has become for Frenchmen an altar of patriotism. Beneath the 163-foot structure lies the nation's Unknown Soldier. The symbolic Flame of Remembrance perpetually burns at the grave.

New York City's white marble Washington Arch commemorates the first President's inauguration. Its themes are Valor, Fame, Wisdom and Justice.

I'm definitely not getting married to anyone. Repeat that, underline it and make it very, very clear.—Actress Paulette Goddard.

I've seen him (pitcher Herb Score) faster this spring and so will you. The more confidence he gets the harder he'll fire.—Al Lopez, Indians' manager.

So They Say

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The U. S. budget could be balanced easily if all the recommendations of the Hoover Commission on Organization of Government were followed. Not only that—there would also be a surplus for the first time since 1951. And taxes might be cut.

These potential savings are indicated as the nonpartisan group headed by ex-President Herbert Hoover passes the halfway point on the 20 reports it is issuing this year.

They will show where government expenses could be cut and how government efficiency could be increased.

On the first 11 reports issued so far, net savings on an annual basis of over a billion and a half dollars have been indicated. Since the nine reports still to come cover bigger items of expense, the total possible savings annually could be well over the three-billion dollar mark.

The anticipated budget deficit for the government's fiscal year beginning July 1 is two and a half billion. For the year ending June 30 it will be between four and five billion.

The possible annual savings which the Hoover reports have so far revealed are: Reduction of paperwork, 255 million dollars. Medical services, 293 million. Lending agencies, 200 million. Warehousing, 282 million.

Two major provisional savings have also been listed.

If the government's employee turnover rate could be reduced from 25 to 20 per cent a year, annual savings of 60 million dollars could be made.

The second conditional saving is a little more complicated. The government—principally Department of Defense—now declares surplus about two billion dollars' worth of supplies a year. In selling these surpluses, the government gets from five to seven cents on the dollar of original cost.

If the government could increase this by one cent on each dollar's worth of surplus sold, the increased return would be 20 million dollars a year. If the return could be increased by five cents on the dollar, the return to the treasury would be 100 million dollars.

There is a third major field of possible savings known as "one-shot" economies. This is to distinguish them from recurring annual savings. One-shot savings would merely reduce the national debt.

For instance, if the government liquidated some of its lending agencies and government corporations and returned their capital funds to the treasury, some five billion dollars might be recovered.

This figure is the total of one-shot savings indicated in the first ten Hoover report recommendations. For the entire 20 reports being issued this year, President Hoover has indicated the total recommended capital fund saving might be seven billion.

From this curtailment of government programs there might be further annual reduction of expense. Naturally, if the government stopped doing any of its numerous activities, it would reduce expenditures. But this would not show on the books as a saving.

This recommended curtailment of government activities has put the Hoover Commission in more hot water than it has been before. It involves such popular programs as government housing loans, farm loans, rural electrification and telephone lines and Tennessee Valley Authority activities. Also many business-type enterprises which bureaucrats consider essential.

Some of the Hoover recommendations in this field go so far as to be in conflict with expressed Eisenhower administration and Republican platform policies. This has caused the White House and some of the executive departments considerable embarrassment.

The Hoover Commission answer to this point is that it was not created to defend anyone's policies. It was set up by law to show where savings might be made and more efficiency achieved. It is bipartisan in make-up and nonpartisan in objectives.

So far, the first ten Hoover reports have made 221 recommendations. Twenty of them could be carried out by presidential executive order. Eighty-four could be carried out by administrative action in the government agencies.

But 117 of the recommendations will require action by Congress to change existing law. Mr. Hoover thinks nine or ten omnibus bills might cover the field.

So far only one bill—to reorganize government legal services—has been introduced in Congress. Others are in preparation and may be filed soon. Few will be acted on this year. But Reorganization Act authority has been extended to June 1, 1957.

If you figure you're not getting ahead in the world, look and see if your wishbone is where your backbone should be.

Being too blunt with your friends has a tendency to make them think you're dumb.

Last Saturday he said at Poland Springs, Md., he is not a candidate for the Democratic nomination and has no intention of entering the race later.

Boy Governor's Tomb Is Found

DETROIT (AP)—The tomb of Michigan's first governor, Stevens T. Mason, was unearthed in Capitol Park in Detroit Tuesday.

After digging all day, workmen struck a vault five feet below the statue of the "boy" governor.

The statue, and the tomb beneath it, are being moved to the south end of the triangular park to make room for a new bus loading station at the north end.

A tarpaulin was thrown over the grave for the night. Removal of the casket will be continued today.

Locating of the vault was guess-work as there was no map showing exactly where the body had been buried.

Mason's body was brought here in 1905 from New York where he had died Jan. 4, 1843, at the age of 32. It was moved after a group of citizens campaigned for proper honors to be paid to the state's first and youngest governor.

The statue over the grave was unveiled three years later, on May 30, 1908.

The casket will be stored in the Wayne County morgue pending reburial, the Department of Parks and Recreation reported.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Wage Guarantee Included In New Ford Pay Offer

employed worker is $30.13. The national average is about $25.

The UAW, in its widely publicized guaranteed annual wage plan, has been trying to get the auto industry to commit itself to pay idle workers 80 per cent of their normal gross earnings for as long as a year, less any state unemployment payments he might receive.

Reuther has said the union wants to make employers financially responsible for any worker's pay loss due to slack production. The auto firms have not rebutted the union's arguments publicly, but business organizations have claimed that employers individually cannot control public demand for products to insure year-around production.

With the emphasis in the auto industry negotiations previously on Ford, the imminence of a showdown with GM led to speculation that both major auto firms were almost equally under the union's fire.

Few expected that both companies would be idled at once. Walter Reuther, president of the CIO-UAW and the CIO itself, pledged in granting the Ford contract extension to Monday, that the UAW would stage a strike in Ford operations then if there was no "satisfactory" settlement.

The union still was pressing its guaranteed annual wage demand calling for year-around pay for workers laid off in slack production periods. Ford's first counterproposal to this demand was a combination offer to permit workers to buy Ford stock at half price, borrow during enforced idleness and get severance pay upon discharge.

No Five-Year Pact
Carl Stellato, president of Ford's biggest local at the huge Rouge plant here, told a workers mass meeting Wednesday afternoon that Ford had bettered this offer, but he declined to reveal details. He said a half dozen union economists were trying to evaluate the new Ford proposal.

On one point, amid loud cheering from the estimated 15,000 to 20,000 Rouge plant auto workers, Stellato said the UAW was adamantly against any renewal of a five-year contract.

"We're not going to delay the fight for the shorter work week for five years," Stellato said. The UAW has said its next proposal, after the year-around pay plan, is reducing the present 40-hour standard work week without loss of pay.

Stellato asked the Ford plant demonstration for a show of sentiment between the UAW's guaranteed wage demand and the Ford plan to allow company workers to invest up to 10 per cent of savings and get half as much back in Ford stock.

Workers Boo
The crowd of workers, some going to their jobs and others leaving their shifts, booed the company stock purchase plan and cheered loudly for a guaranteed pay plan.

A secrecy agreement between UAW and Ford negotiators prevented any explanations of those talks, but this did not apply to the union negotiations with General Motors which have been idling along behind Ford, but may take on a new importance because of the closeness of the Ford and GM strike deadlines. The GM contract expires next Tuesday.

The new Ford offer was reported to contain a plan for the company to augment present state unemployment compensation payments to furnish workers with continued income during periods of idleness in slack production periods.

A modern power plant uses about 3 1/2 of a pound of coal to produce a kilowatt hour of electricity, but more efficient plants are being developed.

Trial Transcript
Denied To Daily

NEW YORK (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ruled that a newspaper has no legal right to be given a transcript of a court trial at its demand.

This decision was handed down Tuesday by Justice Anthony Di Giovanni in denying a request by the New York Post that County Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz be directed to give the paper a copy of his charge to the jury in a recent Brooklyn manslaughter case.

Di Giovanni said the trial transcript was not a public record, which normally would be available to a newspaper. "The mere fact that a transcript which has been taken relates to a matter of public interest does not make it a public record," the justice said.

The Post has 30 days in which to appeal the decision if it decides to do so.

The trial in question was a manslaughter case against policeman Robert Surrey, who shot and killed a Brooklyn youth Feb. 13 as he fled from the scene of a disturbance. Last April 18 a jury acquitted Surrey after deliberating 10 minutes.

Joe-Must-Go Club
Cleared In Court
At Madison, Wis.

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court has ruled that the Joe Must Go Club did not violate the state Corrupt Practices Act when it sought unsuccessfully last year to recall Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

The high court reversed the decision of Circuit Judge Bruce Beilfuss of Neillsville who fined the club $200 on each of 21 counts of violating state election laws.

Justice Grover L. Broadfoot, who wrote the unanimous decision, directed that the case be remanded to Circuit Court and that all the counts be dismissed.

The club, started by Leroy Gore, former Sauk City weekly newspaper editor, was charged with organizing as a corporation and spending money for political causes, parties or candidates, in violation of the state law that prohibits such action by a corporation.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Dow Opens New Midland Plant

MIDLAND (P)—The Dow Chemical Co. has formally opened a new Midland plant making transparent plastic household wrapping material. The product's trade name is Saran Wrap.

Output has been increased from 130,000 rolls a month in late 1953 to 3,000,000. Capacity of the new plant is 5,000,000.

The plastic film, used for military packaging during World War II, has been refined for use in commercial and household packaging of foods.

The bulk of raw materials for the wrap is produced at Dow's Texas division, in dry, granulated form. It is melted by heat, stretched, compressed, and wound into rolls. The product thickness is one-sixth of a human hair.

The new plant has 10,000 square feet. It occupies a building formerly housing Dow's magnesium rolling mill, now located at Madison, Ill. Facilities are provided for 300 employees.

CONTRACT BRIDGE By Josephine Culbertson

RESPONDING TO TWO-BIDS

WHEN two experts form a new partnership and talk things over, deciding on the conventions they shall use, the one point they are apt to haggle over is the response to an opening two-bid—whether it should be "natural" or ace-showing. Most American experts believe that the best bidding technique is to show a "respectable" suit (if any) in response, so that an early understanding may be reached about the trump; but a few experts feel that the immediate exchange of information about aces is the prime consideration.

Perhaps the best solution is to use the ace-showing method with partners who cannot be relied upon for independent, deductive bidding in the later stages, but to use the natural-response method with truly competent, imaginative partners. Let's look at the hands of a partnership—the opposing hands do not matter.

West dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

West	East
♠ K Q J 9 7	♠ 10 5
♥ 6 4	♥ J 9 7 6
♦ A	♦ A 10
♣ K Q J 8 3	♣ K J 9 8 5

When this deal occurred in a rubber game, East had agreed (reluctantly) to dispense with his usual ace-showing responses to two-bids, and this became the auction:

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

West
3 ♦
Pass

Obviously, there were 12 cold tricks in the combined hands—and so a vulnerable slam had been missed.

East launched a bitter attack, the substance of which was that if West had not insisted on playing his system, East would have answered the two-spade opening with three diamonds, showing the ace, and then it would have been easy for West to bid the slam.

This is the sort of argument that makes no sense. Granted, the ace-showing response would have worked out all right, but it was ridiculous for East to blame the result on failure to use that method. East, and East alone, was at fault; his five-spade preference bid over West's five diamonds was a shameful dereliction of duty. Did he think that this bid (or his previous actions) announced the diamond ace? Rather obviously, West might be interested in that card!

The fact that West had jumped in diamonds instead of using Blackwood should have informed East that his partner was not interested in the ace of clubs, and since East was fortunate enough to have the right ace—i.e., marked right by the bidding—he should have jumped to six spades over the five diamonds.

Mine Inspection Measure Killed

LANING (AP)—A motion by a group of Upper Peninsula lawmakers to grab a dying bill from the hands of a committee was defeated in the House Thursday night.

The group, headed by Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee), urged their colleagues to discharge the labor committee from consideration of a bill to set up a division of mine inspectors in the State Labor Department.

The motion lost by a 56-45 vote which closely followed party lines, Democrats supporting it and Republicans opposing.

"Mine inspection should be taken out of politics," Jacobetti said. "At present, these inspectors are elected and are obligated to their political parties."

Jacobetti cited the case of a child who was killed falling down a mine shaft in the City of Negaunee.

"The fatality frequency in Upper Peninsula mines is greater than in any industry in the state," said Rep. Gilbert Wales (D-Stambaugh).

"The hunter missed me by a yard, but his little boy got me between the eyes with a water pistol!"

Wife's Judo Fooled By Husband's Left

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Ruby Solomon, feeling pretty confident after a session of judo instruction with the sheriff's women's reserve, went home Tuesday and told her husband Ben: "Swing at me."

Mrs. Solomon raised her left hand to ward off the blow, just as the judo teacher had indicated. Ben caught her with a haymaker and she realized that she had forgotten one thing—Ben is a south-paw.

Open House Planned Friday At Water Plant

Manistique's new water pumping station, in which installation of a second high-life pump was recently completed, will be open for public inspection from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Friday.

City Manager Orson Livermore, Russell L. Johnson, of Escanaba, U. P. engineer for the Michigan Department of Health, Frank Gierke Jr., water works superintendent, and William Bauers, water plant operator, will conduct visitors through the station and explain its operation.

The new pumping station on the Indian River was begun in 1953 by Proksh Construction company, of Iron River, and following completion of their contract late in 1953, city crews began installation of machinery. Plans and specifications for the plant were drawn by the Francis Engineering company of Saginaw.

New Water Mains

The city sold a $250,000 bond issue to finance construction of the plant. Over $237,000 of this amount has been spent for construction to date, leaving a balance of approximately $14,000. The project called for renovation of the dam in Intake park, and this work is scheduled to be completed in the low-water period in July or August this year. The cost of repairing the concrete spillway walls and ladders is estimated at $4,000 to $5,000 by City Manager Livermore.

The pumping station, in use since last fall, is now pumping 750,000 gallons per day to supply needs here. In addition to the pumping station itself, enclosed in a 40 by 40 brick and concrete building, the city had a 500,000 gallon settling tank built adjacent to the pumping station, and constructed 8100 feet of new water mains.

A 14-inch main leads from the pumping station to the city's distribution lines, replacing an old wood gravity main which deteriorated. The 8100 feet of new line in the project included a 10 inch main across the Manistiquet River. The city now has 82,397 feet or 15.6 miles of water main.

Old Station

The 250,000-gallon storage tank in the water tower on Deer street will continue to be used by the city. It was constructed in 1921, through a $97,000 general obligation bond issue sold to Howe, Snow, Corrigan and Bertles of Grand Rapids. At that time the water tower on Deer St., was constructed, with the pumping station on the ground floor, as well as the Intake dam and a 24-inch wooden gravity main between the dam and the water tower. The old settling tank, 1200 feet north of the water tower, and constructed in 1906 was kept in use by the city.

The City of Manistique obtained its water supply in the early days from several artesian wells, which were tapped to provide limited use by fire engines. However, this arrangement proved unsatisfactory and in 1904 the City created a Public Works board to study the water supply problem and make recommendations to the Council.

On Aug. 22, 1904, the Public Works board recommended hiring a consulting engineer to survey and make estimates on the cost of installing both a sewer and water system. Following Council approval, George W. Sturtevant was hired to make the survey, which was submitted to the Council March 13, 1905.

$97,000 Bond Issue

Sturtevant recommended using the Indian River for a source of water and building of a 16-inch gravity main from a site known as the Brewery Dam to point on Western avenue near the present Paper Mill dam. He estimated cost at $125,000.

The Council accepted the Sturtevant report and subsequently asked the State Legislature to pass a bill authorizing the city to borrow money for construction of a sewer and water system. Authority was granted by the state and electors approved a $125,000 bond issue April 3, 1905 by a vote of 688 "yes" and 161 "no". The bonds were sold at five per cent interest, for a 25-year period and contract for the work was let to Green & Sons Co. of Appleton, Wis. The cost of the sewer system, according to a report submitted to the Council in 1906, was $53,965.92 and for the water system, $78,429, making a total of $132,495.77.

This system was satisfactory for about 15 years, after which insufficient water was available for larger fires. A Public Works board report was again asked and the $97,000 bond issue for the Deer St., pumping station, auxiliary storage space of 200,000 gallons and enlargement of the distribution system. In November, 1920, the bond issue proposal was defeated, but it was subsequently passed on Dec. 14, 1920.

Water Analysis

Analysis of the water supplied by the new pumping station here at present, according to Superintendent Gierke, is as follows:

"The City of Manistique pumps on the average of 750,000 gallons of water per day. The highest we have on record here is 1,400,000 gallons a day; our lowest reading is 600,000 gallons per day.

"The color condition of the raw water is 10 to 50 parts per million, which also depends upon the amount of rainfall and other climatic conditions. In treating this water for public use, we add on an average of 28.16 pounds of chlorine per day or about 4.15 P. P. M. This enables us to improve the color of the water from 30 to 50 percent.

"The turbidity of our water will vary from 0 to 10 parts per million, which depends largely upon our wind conditions. (Example: a Northwest wind condition on Indian Lake will cause a rise in our turbidity). The pH of raw water ranges from 7.3 to 8.5. As our water has been treated, the pH will range between 7.3 and 7.4.

"The hardness of the water is caused by the lime-containing sedimentary rock, which we have in and surrounding the City of Manistique. The raw water we have contains 120 to 150 parts per million.

"The amount of alkalinity that our water contains is from 60 to 100 parts per million.

"The temperature variation of the water is from 32 to 78 degrees Fahrenheit; we find it more difficult to add chlorine to our water when the temperature is down to 32 degrees. During the colder months, when the temperature of the water is below 40 degrees, we find very little if any contamination. It is only during the warmer months that we find contamination."

Prep baseball fans in this area had an opportunity to see some of the best teams in the Upper Peninsula in action over the weekend as the first annual U. P. Invitational tournament was conducted under the sponsorship of Holy Name . . . John Goetz, hard-throwing Soo Loretto pitcher, lived up to his advance billing as one of the top chuckers in the Peninsula . . . He whiffed 29 batters in 18 innings as a starter and in relief.

Brian Mastaw, who is well-known by Golden Gloves boxing fans here, slugged the only homer of the tournament at the City Diamond, pounding the ball out of the park to help Soo Loretto beat Negaunee 5-1 in the semifinals . . . However, it was a sub for Mastaw who provided Loretto with the winning run against Holy Name in the 12th inning of the championship game. Mastaw is a two-time Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves champion.

Coaches and athletes who attended the Marquette Memorial Relays weren't too happy at the way the affair was dragged out because of the pole vault event . . . It was about midnight when the vaulting finally closed with Einer Anderson of Houghton winning at 11 feet . . . There has been some agitation to eliminate that event from the program in the future.

High school coaches from all over the Upper Peninsula were on hand when Allan Ronberg of Norway, Viking coach for 25 years, was honored at a testimonial dinner Saturday night . . . The Norway High School stadium has been named "Ronberg Field" in his honor . . . Ronberg has produced many good athletic teams during his years at the small Norway school, but perhaps the greatest was his unbeaten grid team of 1938.

Phils Stay Out Of Cellar As Long As Roberts Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

So long as Robin Roberts wins 20 or more games a season, the Philadelphia Phillies will stay out of the National League cellar. Robin has won 20 or more the past five years and 1955 will be no exception if he continues at his present pace.

The Phillies have won just 19 games as they ride along in seventh place, and Roberts has won eight of them, including a neat six-hit 3-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night.

The Michigan State alumnus had only a 3-3 record on May 7, but in less than a month, he has won five games and shows a fine 2.30 earned run average.

Team Perks Up

The only teams he hasn't beaten are St. Louis and Cincinnati.

The Phils themselves seem to be snapping out of the doldrums. They've won 9 of their last 11 games, and, although, they are just above the Pittsburgh Pirates in the standings, they are only four games behind the third place New York Giants.

After the Phils scored two runs in the fourth, it was merely a matter of Roberts protecting the lead, which he did with no particular trouble. Ernie Banks hit a home run for the Cubs in the fifth for their only run.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers trimmed the Milwaukee Braves, 11-8; the Redlegs whipped the New York Giants 5-2, and the Cardinals slapped down the Pirates, 6-2.

Yanks Cop Two

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians shut out the Baltimore Orioles, 5-0; the New York Yankees won a doubleheader from the Kansas City A's, 3-1 and 6-1; the Chicago White Sox edged the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, and the Detroit Tigers blanked the Washington Senators, 9-0.

Alonzo Stagg Has Reunion With Former Maroon Stars

CHICAGO (AP) — "Hello, Mark..... Great to see you, Art."

Amos Alonzo Stagg, 92, was greeting Mark Catlin and Art Bedenoch.

A half century ago these two tackled Danny Clark of Michigan behind the goal to give Coach Stagg's University of Chicago football team a 2-0 victory.

The fabled winning safety against one of Fielding Yost's greatest "point-a-minute" teams was one of Stagg's finest football triumphs and gave his Maroons a perfect season mark of 10 victories.

Knew First Names

The grand old coach, who served Chicago from 1892 through 1932 quickly called most of his former players by their first names when he arrived by train Wednesday from his home at Stockton, Calif.

He returned to Chicago to be honored at the University's reunion of four 1905 Big Ten championship teams he coached—football, track, baseball and basketball.

Catlin, captain of the 1905 gridiron champions, played end and Badenoch, guard. Others of that team on hand at the station to greet Stagg were guard Merrill Meigs, halfback Leo De Tray, and Ed Parry and halfback Fred Walker.

Will Toss First Ball

The visit of Stagg and his wife of 60 years, Stella, will have one of its climaxes today. He will toss out the first ball for the annual alumni-varsity baseball game and address the Order of the C, an organization of Maroon letter winners, at its evening dinner.

"I've heard reports that the University is contemplating a return to football," winked Stagg. "If they do, I'll make a high kick and throw my hat in the air."

Six years after Stagg left Chicago, the university bowed out of intercollegiate football and formally withdrew from the Big Ten in 1946.

"Football is an educational matter," Stagg said. "Every student should have a chance to get the values out of athletics and competition."

Harnies Meet Millers In Key Clash Tonight

Merchants Fail In Upset Bid, Lose 9-8 Game

Harnies a record of six straight victories in the league. They tangle with their chief challenger, Paper Mill, in the feature game tonight. Paper Mill has notched five straight wins this season.

The Merchants almost put an end to Harnischfeger's victory-string last night. They led the state champion Harnie 8-3 into the sixth and 8-5 into the seventh but couldn't hold it.

Results Last Night
Harnischfeger 9, Merchants 8 (9 innings)
Eagles 3, Clairmonts 1.
Northland Bread 10, Rapid River 4.

Games Tonight
7—Dells vs. Rapid River.
8:30—Harnischfeger vs. Paper Mill.

Harnischfeger set the stage for the top game of the week in the American League tonight at 8:30 by squeaking past the Merchants 9-8 in nine innings last night.

The extra-inning win gives the

Rusha Bat Star

In the last of the seventh Ed Gauthier cracked a double to score Charley Camps and Tod Butler, narrowing the deficit to 8-7. And with two away Howard Rusha singled Gauthier home with the tying run.

Rusha put the game on ice for the Harnies in the last of the ninth when he belted a double to score Lowell LaPlante who had walked.

The Merchants combed John Pieropon and Pat Moran for 11 hits, including another home run by Bob Anderson. Ray O'Seen went all the way on the Merchants' mound.

Eagles Post Upset

The Eagles, who moved up to American League action this season after capturing the National League championship last year, startled Clairmont Transfer with a 3-1 victory behind tight chukking by Dick Anderson.

Anderson allowed the Transfers only three hits while the Eagles climbed on Bill Courneene for six.

The Eagles counted all their runs in the fourth inning. Anderson singled and Puff Ottensman bounced the ball over the outfield fence for a double. Charley Hughes worked Courneene for a walk to load the bases and Norm Beauchamp cleared them with a drive to the outfield. An overthrow at third base let the third run in.

Rapid River Losses

The victory was only the second for the Eagles this season, but it was an important one as Clairmonts had been in a challenging spot near the top of the standings. It was the second defeat against five wins for Clairmonts.

Northland Bread got back into the win column by measuring Rapid River 10-4 behind four-hit pitching by Ken Dufresne. One of Rapid River's hits was a homer by Aino Maki.

Northland picked up nine hits off J. C. Miller and Lefty Lake who worked on the Rapid River mound. Don Scott led the Breads with a single and a double as Northland scored three runs in the first and two in the second to salt away the win, their second of the season.

Santee Okay To Unbeaten Gladstone Run At Compton Hosts Garden Sunday In Bay De Noc Clash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wes Santee is free to compete as the star attraction in the mile race in the Compton Invitational track meet Friday night.

Having emphatically denied a published report in San Francisco that he has collected over a juicy expense money for appearances in California, the usually talkative Kansas kept his mouth shut today.

Larry Houston, chairman of the registration committee of the Southern Pacific AAU, in a formal statement late Wednesday said Santee is fully privileged to compete and that no official complaint has been filed against him by the sponsor of any meet.

Santee said he received nothing extra for his running except in the way of entertainment from hospitable persons in the areas he visits. He said the accusations against him came from certain people in San Francisco who he said are irked because he defeated their favorite son, Lon Spurrier, in a half mile run in the Modesto Relays.

Rapid River will be at home Sunday going for No. 2 against the winless Perkins team. Manistique entertains arch-rival Trenary in another feature.

Harriette Fitzharris with 35 and Martha Johnson and Ruth Needham with 37's followed. Needham fired a 47 for low gross, followed by Fitzharris with 48 and Rosemary LeMire with 49.

Cappaert Resigns As Coach At Stephenson

STEPHENSON — Francis Cappaert, head track coach and assistant in football and basketball at Stephenson High School for the past two years, has announced his resignation to accept a similar job at Dansville High School near Lansing.

Cappaert, whose Stephenson track team won all its meets and the Upper Peninsula Class B championship this season, accepted the job at Dansville in order to be able to work towards a Doctorate of Education at Michigan State College. He is a native of Stephenson and a graduate of Michigan State.

Besides the U. P. Class B track crown, the 1955 Eagles were undefeated in season competition and won the Great Lakes Conference title, the Class B regional meet and the Memorial Relays at Marquette last weekend.

Cappaert was coach at Stephenson for two years before serving for two years in the armed services in War II. He returned to Stephenson two years ago.

At Dansville he will coach football and track and teach. He was science instructor at Stephenson in addition to his coaching duties.

Walter Schoussen, head basketball coach at Stephenson, had announced his resignation earlier this spring.

Los Angeles Turns Down Major Leagues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $4,500,000 bond issue proposal to build a major league baseball park was quietly buried here. Shelled with it, at least for the time being, was hope for big league baseball for Los Angeles.

In a special election two days ago, the ball park issue was voted down, 160,167 to 131,894. It needed two-thirds of the vote cast to carry.

The Eskymos will meet Gladstone this evening and will close out the season in U. P. tournament action at Marquette Saturday.

Golf Field Is Set For International Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP) — The field was completed today for the $150,000 international golf championship with the receipt of entries from Holland, Denmark and Sweden.

For the four-day tournament starting June 9 at Columbia Country Club in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., Denmark and Sweden entered as a team representing Scandinavia. Twenty-four other nations have two-man teams.

Whenever Brooklyn Dodger first baseman Gill Hodges hits a home run in Ebbets Field he "throws a kiss" to his wife as he crosses home plate.

Hoefst Spins Two-Hitter As Tigers Blank Senators 9-0

DETROIT (AP)—Famine to feast? The Detroit Tigers certainly hope it works that way.

After four losses in which they not only got beat but were thoroughly whipped in all departments, the Tigers bounced back Wednesday with a 9-0 triumph over the Washington Senators.

The pitching, which had sputtered through the losing streak.

Breitzman To Toss For Bears Sunday

The Escanaba Bears, bolstered by ex-Escanaba High School stars, will hold a practice session this evening at 6:30 at the City Diamond.

The Bears will be seeking their second straight win in the Tri County League Sunday when they entertain the Powers nine.

Manager Dick Lough will call on Harlan Breitzman, undefeated Eskymo hurler, to pitch against Powers. Breitzman notched 14 straight victories as a prep pitcher for Escanaba.

was nearly perfect as young Billy Hoefst limited the Senators to two singles and struck out seven.

Boone Hits Homer

The hitting, sadly lacking in recent contests, looked lusty with 10 solid safeties including a home run by Ray Boone.

Boone was the first of the Tiger cripples to return to regular action. He had been nursing a sore arm since the last Eastern road trip. Wednesday saw him back at third base and in his first trip to the plate he lashed one of Dean Stone's serves into the lower left field seats.

That was the Tigers' first run, and they could have won with it alone. But they picked up singles in the third, sixth and seventh before rushing five men across in the eighth for the one-sided victory.

Hoefst's Fifth Win

Jack Phillips filled in for Ferris Fain at first and drove in three runs with three singles and a sacrifice fly. Fain took the day off to rest his bum leg.

It was the second straight shut-out and fifth victory for Hoefst who is off to his best start in his brief major league career.

Harvey Kuenn continued to ride the bench and saw his American League batting lead shaved to six percentage points by teammate Al Kaline. Kaline drilled a single and a double in three official times at bat and raised his average to .373. Kaline also drove in two runs.

Four Days Remain In ABC Keg Meet

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — The American Bowling Congress tournament has just four days to go, and, for the first time since May 22 there was a change among the top 10 in one division Wednesday.

The change came in the doubles standings when Fred List and Bob Harris of San Antonio hit for 1,293 for fourth place. List hit a 7.13 in 22 games.

Oklahoma A&M Upset In NCAA Tournament

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma, beaten four straight times during the regular season by Oklahoma A. & M., upset the previously unbeaten Aggies Wednesday night 3-0 to take a one game lead in their best of three series for a berth in the NCAA baseball tournament at Omaha June 10-14.

Tony Risinger bested Ken Kinnaman in the mound duel. Kinnaman was the winner in all four previous victories over the Sooners. Until Wednesday night, the Cow-boys were unbeaten for the season in 22 games.

Rotary Little Leaguers Open With Pair Of Wins

The highly respected Rotary pitching staff lived up to advance notice when Dwayne Bero and Dick Bourdeau teamed up to give Laurence Erickson's Little Leaguers a double win over Kiwanis 7-2 and 3-0 last night at Royce Park in the opening games of the season.

Bero tossed a three-hitter while striking out 12, but his own wildness had him in frequent trouble. In the abbreviated night cap Bourdeau scattered four hits over the route and won his own game when he drove out a triple with two men aboard. Nine-year-old Ron Gauthier was the hitting star of the night as he picked up three hits in five trips to the plate.

Line scores:
Rotary 7 runs 5 hits, 1 error
Kiwanis, 2 runs 3 hits, 4 errors
Bero and Morin for Rotary
Bob Jones and Carlson for Kiwanis

(2nd Game)
Rotary, 3 runs 3 hits no errors
Kiwanis, no runs 4 hits, 2 errors
Bourdeau and Morin for Rotary
Gravelle and Carlson for Kiwanis

In tonight's Little League action a couple of grade school teammates will face each other as Lions open defense of their title against the St. Joe Boosters. Bob Rosemurgy will toe the slab for the Lions while Tom Robinson is expected to go for the Boosters. In the nightcap Huck Andrews who led the league in hitting last year with a .532 average will work for Lions against Butch Provo of St. Joe.

Sports Briefs

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Big Ten champion Michigan was favored today to capture the 30th annual Central Collegiate Conference track and field meet Saturday at Marquette University.

The powerful Wolverine squad, including five of seven Big Ten individual titleholders, entered the meet Wednesday, throwing the race for the team title wide open. Michigan State is defending champion.

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have recalled Warner (Babe) Birrer, 25-year-old right-handed pitcher, from Buffalo of the International League. In return the Tigers sent Van Fletcher to Buffalo on 24-hour recall and shipped Bennett Flowers to the club outright. Both are righthanders.

Every member of the West Virginia University golf team is a resident of the state.

Pep Scores TKO Over Joey Cam

BOSTON (AP) — Willie Pep the boxer today was hailed as Willie Pep the sportsman as a result of his fourth round technical knockout of Joey Cam of East Boston.

Pep opened an inch and a half gash over Cam's left eye midway of the third round of their scheduled 10-rounder at Boston Arena Wednesday night — then danced away to avoid hitting his bleeding opponent.

The 2,486 fans on hand roared approval of Pep's gesture which was seen also by a national television audience.

Cam went back to his corner at the end of the round but the fight was stopped before the bell for the fourth sounded. The cut was deep and required four stitches.

"I could tell right away it was a real bad cut," Pep said afterward. "I didn't want to take advantage of the kid."

More Dirty Work Comes Up In Fight Game Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A surprise witness told the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission Wednesday that her husband's signature on a contract listing him as co-manager of lightweightweight Harold Johnson is a forgery.

Mrs. Goldie Perri, wife of Peter Perri, testified at the Commission Johnson-Julio Mederos bout of May 6.

The Commission is investigating its physicians' reports that Johnson was drugged prior to the bout, which he lost by a TKO in the second round. It is also attempting to prove its own allegation that that matchmaker, Pete Moran was Johnson's co-manager. State law prohibits a matchmaker from owning a financial piece of a fighter.

Told What To Say

Mrs. Perri testified that Moran suggested a week ago that if she were called as a witness that she should tell the Commission her husband's signature on Johnson's contract was genuine.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Levin introduced an affidavit which he said was given by Perri in a hospital, where Perri's wife claims he is seriously ill.

According to the affidavit Perri contended that he once worked for Herman Taylor, a boxing promoter; that he never signed a contract as co-manager of Johnson; and that he never had any business relations with either Johnson or Tommy Loughrey, Johnson's manager. Moran is an associate of Taylor.

Didn't Hear Question

Mrs. Perri said she met Moran last week after receiving several telephone calls from unidentified persons requesting that her husband and Moran get together. She told the Commission she was accompanied by Angelo Di Stefano, former South Philadelphia deputy boxing commissioner.

She said it was then that Moran suggested she verify her husband's signature on the contract if she were called as a witness.

Earlier Moran had testified he had not been in touch with Perri or any member of Perri's family.

After Mrs. Perri testified, he was called back to the stand and admitted he saw her last Thursday. "I apparently didn't hear the question properly," Moran declared.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

MONTREAL (AP) — The annual all-star game of the National Hockey League will be played Oct. 2 in Detroit, home of the NHL champion Red Wings. Dick Irvin will coach the team opposing the Red Wings, who closed the 1955 season by capturing the Stanley Cup in a series with the runnerup Montreal Canadiens.
